Conferences, Education and Professional Development

Conferences

The TEDC hosts three to four conferences per year, each offering an engaging mix of sessions and discussions on current economic development issues. All conferences provide networking opportunities. Beginning in 2013, TEDC began hosting the Texas Women in Economic Development Conference.

Education and Professional Development

- Basic Economic Development Course – the BEDC provides participants with a comprehensive understanding of the keys to successful economic development. For those new to the profession, the BEDC is accredited by the IEDC and is the first step toward professional certification in economic development.
- Economic Development Sales Tax Workshops – designed specifically for EDC board members and local elected officials. The workshops include information about the Type A & Type B sales tax for economic development, as well as Open Meetings and Public Information Act Certification.
- Workshops & Webinars – The TEDC offers workshops and webinars on topics such as entrepreneurship, small business development, economic development finance programs, business retention, marketing, strategic planning and board development, among others. TEDC hosts seminars focused on business recruitment and site location that invites leaders in the site selection industry.

Advocacy

Legislative

The TEDC has consistently led legislative efforts to protect critical economic development programs, including the Economic Development Sales Tax, the Texas Enterprise Fund, The Texas Economic Development Act (Chapter 313), the Skills Development Fund and Enterprise Zones legislation.

Political Action Committee

The TEDC's Political Action Committee (PAC) provides financial support to candidates and office holders who support a robust, competitive environment for economic development in the state. Since 1997, the TEDC PAC has helped economic developers build effective relationships with key decision makers at the Texas Capitol – and pass legislation that supports our profession and the communities that we serve.

TEXAS ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL

Award Programs

TEDC Award programs are designed to highlight exceptional efforts and professionalism in the field of economic development.

Community Economic Development Award

In 1995, the TEDC established the Community Economic Development Award (CEDA) to honor excellence and exceptional contributions of Texas communities in economic development.

Workforce Excellence Award

In 2001, the TEDC created the Workforce Excellence Award (WEA) to recognize the exceptional contributions of Texas communities who have implemented successful workforce initiatives.

Economic Excellence Recognition Program

In an effort to continue strengthening the knowledge and skills of economic development professionals and volunteers throughout the state, the TEDC has instituted its Economic Excellence Recognition Program.

News

News & Noteworthy

TEDC members receive a weekly email with economic development news from around the State.

Headline News

The TEDC subscribes to a newsclip service to follow economic development news around the country. The newsclip service is updated daily on the TEDC's website and is a benefit of TEDC membership.

Member News

TEDC members may share their press releases and news stories on the Member News section of the TEDC website.

Jobs

The TEDC job board is a great resource for our members looking for career growth opportunities. The TEDC posts economic development jobs for our members as another member benefit.

Membership

TEDC membership is open to anyone with an interest in economic development. Most of the TEDC's members are professional economic developers, community volunteers, or elected officials. A growing number represent local workforce development boards and some of our members work in fields related to economic development – utilities, real estate, banking, education, engineering and consulting.

Active Membership is $550 per year and is for professionals who commit all or a portion of their time directly to economic development, or a related field.

Volunteer Membership is $150 per year and is defined as an elected or appointed individual that serves an economic development organization in an unpaid capacity.

State Membership is $25 per year and is an employee of an Austin-based state agency or administrative organization that receives its funding from state appropriations.

Visit the TEDC's website at www.texasedc.org/membership for a complete list of member benefits.
