

Tuesday,
May 10,
2022
8:00 AM to
2:00 PM
Tyler, Texas

Resilience and Recovery Workshop "Don't Mess with Texas" - Upper East and North Central Regions

Please join the Texas Economic Development Council, in partnership with the International Sustainable Resilience Center, for a free workshop. The workshop will focus on preparing your community to be more resilient to navigate disasters of all kinds, to learn best practices for business continuity and where to access resources to aid in economic recovery. Each workshop participant will receive resource materials, a resilience scorecard and important information to aid in resilience and recovery strategies for economic development.

- ▶ Location:
Courtyard Marriott
7424 South Broadway Avenue
Tyler, TX 75703
- ▶ Cost: FREE, includes resource materials, beverages and lunch
- ▶ Register online at www.texasedc.org
- ▶ Contact: Amy Swank
amy@texasedc.org for more information

TEXAS ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT COUNCIL

Resilience and Recovery Workshop

"Don't Mess with Texas"

About the Presenter

David Dodd, CEcD, FM, HLM

Founder and CEO
International Sustainable Resilience
Center

David Dodd is a seasoned international thought leader in economic development, sustainability, and resilience. In 2017, David founded the International Sustainable Resilience Center, or ISRC, a Center of Excellence in New Orleans affiliated with the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe's International PPP Centre of Excellence. During his consulting career, David worked in forty-seven states and on four continents. He served as Dean of the University of Oklahoma Economic Development Institute. In early 2013, David partnered with performance achievement firm NOVACES, LLC to secure a Blanket Purchase Agreement with the Economic Development Administration to provide subject matter expertise in economic recovery from disasters. Currently, David is chair of a multi-lateral task force on using PPPs to help economies adapt built environments and systems to the new realities of COVID-19. David was also Founding Chairman of the Resilience Development Institute at the University of Oklahoma. David is a graduate of Louisiana Tech University and the Graduate School of Banking at Louisiana State University. David is a Certified Economic Developer (CEcD).

1601 Rio Grande Street, Suite 455
Austin, TX 78701
512-480-8432
amy@texasedc.org
www.texasedc.org